FIELDS OF STUDY

Common areas of inquiry include chronic conditions, self and family management, symptom science, maternal and child health, sleep and sleep disorders, global health, health equity and health disparities, end-of-life and palliative care, environmental influences on health, and community-based interventions.